When the appeal came up for admission the appellants sought permission of the Court to withdraw the appeal and file I.A.1839/06. This Court granted permission to withdraw the appeal. Now, an application for review is filed by the 4th respondent in the appeal contending that by withdrawal of the appeal his rights if any, could not be prejudiced. Since the permission is only granted to withdraw the appeal, if the 4th respondent in the appeal is having any other remedy that is reserved. With that clarification the second appeal is permitted to be withdrawn.
